PRESS RELEASE

Richmond, VA- When you think of contemporary art, a seventeenth-century historic house museum probably does not come to mind. This fall Wilton House Museum will present its first exhibition of contemporary art, Anywhere But Now. The show features the work of twelve artists from various cities in the U.S., including Richmond.

Anywhere But Now is curated by Angela Parker and Susan Moser, graduate students from the Department of Art History at Virginia Commonwealth University.

Opening Reception November 7, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.
